sfts147 attracting quick witted women (00:00.246)
All right, gentlemen, how's it going? This is your main man, Scot McKay, coming at you again with another snippet from the summit as part of The Mountain Top Podcast from X & Y Communications. Today we're going to cover once again another angle on what is truly one of my favorite topics. We're talking about women who are really sharp, laser-witted, really quick on their feet, and maybe have a little bit of an edge to them. Now, here's the thing before we get into anything else.

Those women almost always have a hard time dating. On one hand, they don't want to dumb themselves down. I mean, they are who they are, and it's a good thing they're the way they are. But a whole lot of men are intimidated by them. They can't stand up to them. Well, at the same time, we as men almost always have a fascination towards these women, right? Especially if we feel like we're not going to be able to stand up to them. It's really a challenge to our manhood, isn't it?

Well, it shouldn't be. First of all, who you are is who you are. Just because being rough around the edges and quick witted is not a facet of your personality doesn't make you less than any of those women. And that's a big part of what we're going to talk about today. You see, a woman who's like that, the men who disgust her are the men who don't feel like they're enough for her. It's not exactly that you have to match her toe to toe.

In exactly those areas she's so good at socially, it's more like she wants a man who isn't phased by her. Hey, you could be the strong silent type. A lot of women like that. But if you're scared of her, if you're intimidated by her, she's gonna sniff that like a Doberman senses fear and desperation, and she's gonna write you off. You won't be enough for her. But see, it isn't like she needs you to be her.

She can respect and appreciate who you are as a man, even if you're completely different. So if she's quick on her feet, if she is faster in terms of trash talking, comeback stuff like that, even a man who indeed doesn't stand toe to toe with her in that regard can go, all right, yeah, that's a good one, and not be phased by it and move on. So that is absolutely all important. Gentlemen, if you like women like that.

doesn't necessarily mean you have to be her. Let her be who she is. Appreciate her for who she is. Hold your frame in terms of your authentic self as a man and the gifts that you bring to the table, the way you manifest your masculine presence to her. And you know what? It's all going to be okay. I can almost promise you that. Because you're not trying to be someone you're not. And that's exactly the kind of masculinity that perks a woman like that up.

Here's another thing. Is that kind of woman really your kind of woman? A lot of guys gravitate towards that kind of woman kind of for the same reason, for better or worse, that short guys want to prove that they can date taller women. It's just to say they can, and you can't tell me otherwise. In other words, they have something to prove. Guys, having something to prove in a quest to date a woman like that is exactly the wrong headed frame we're talking about here.

When you feel like you have to prove something to a woman who's really sharp and quick on her feet like that, that's the losing hand. That's the opposite of being your authentic self, being comfortable in your own skin, and simply showing up as the man you are for that kind of woman. Now, with those two factors out of the way, here's the whammy I'm gonna drop on this entire conversation. No matter what a woman's like.

She can be demure as the day is long, or she can be on the other side of the spectrum and be the kind of woman we're talking about here. Here's the thing. If you always ask yourself those two questions, am I making this woman feel safe and comfortable in my presence? And am I carrying her instead of her carrying me? You know, that's is she my lover or my mommy kind of thing? If you answer both of those questions successfully with any woman.

Regardless of her personality type, regardless of her demeanor, she's going to be much more attracted to you. Now, yes, that goes for the women who are quick-witted and a little rough around the edges, too. Those women have fears. Those women have concerns. At their heart, in their soul, they are still female human beings with a feminine nature. Any man who comes along and creates

Safety and security for that woman is going to earn not only her respect, but is going to attract her. Now, this woman may look on the surface like she's got it all figured out and she's fearless, but I guarantee you, underneath that exterior, she is indeed all woman all the time, and therefore she has fears. It's just very true that some women are much better at concealing that from the outside world than others. And

When you're the kind of man who makes her feel safe, you crack through that exterior and you attract her. Gentlemen, what I'm telling you here, in so many words, is no matter what a woman is like, no matter who she is, no matter how tough her exterior is or otherwise, once you get down to it, you behave like a man who's all about her safety and security.

You be a "big four" man and you're gonna crack that exterior and you're gonna find she's all woman under there. And sometimes those women are actually the easiest to attract at all once they find a man who has the balls to be authentic rather than trying to be someone he's not just to impress her or worse, go toe to toe with her. Now listen guys, if you are quick witted.

If you are a little edgy, if you can go toe-to-toe with a woman like that, why not? Enjoy yourself. But don't kid yourself. If you're not a guy who's like that, it's not like that kind of woman needs a man who's exactly like her. You bring to the table what you are uniquely and authentically best at and watch how that woman responds when you are the "big four" man.

Who lifts whatever fears are under the surface out of her life in that moment simply because you are the masculine man with the masculine presence that most other men just cannot or will not show up with. Want to talk about this or anything else? Scot at mountaintoppodcast.com. Be good out there.
