

The Newest Cool Way To Meet Women - SFTS65

Scot McKay: You're listening to Snippets from the Summit with your host, Scot McKay. Gentlemen, this is your main man, Scot McKay coming at you again with another snippet from the Summit as part of the Mountaintop podcast from X and Y Communications. As I love to do today, I'm going to introduce you to a creative and relatively modern way to go out there and meet some women that nobody else is talking about. And you know, post Covid, you've heard me talk about getting out there and doing karaoke, kind of getting out of your comfort zone a little bit. I've talked about the yes and tactic that comes from doing comedic improv where anything a woman would say, you follow it up with something that builds on the conversation by saying yes. And I've done an entire program on that that you can get by going to mountaintoppodcast.com yesand and today I'm going to give you a third option above and beyond simply going into the produce section, finding a woman standing next to avocados and saying, hey, how do you choose avocados? This is going to be something brand new, like I said, you've never heard of before, at least in so much as it pertains to meeting women. And what I'm going to talk about is pickleball. Now, if you haven't heard of the game of pickleball itself yet, yeah, you're probably hiding under a rock or something. Probably been hiding under a rock. Pickleball has taken the country by storm, kind of alongside and with equal force to how AI has come along. Pickleball is not going to be a fad, just like AI is not going to be a fad. Although pickleball is very different than AI because you're actually going out there dealing with real, actual people in real life. Yes, we're talking about being social IRL here. So what is pickleball, for those of you who are uninitiated? Well, simply put, it's kind of like crossing tennis with ping pong. Now they have pickleball courts at gyms, they have pickleball courts in neighborhoods now. And here in San Antonio at least, they're building entire facilities completely devoted to pickleball. This is something people are really enjoying. Why?

Well, you know, it's like playing tennis, but you don't have to run quite as hard or extend yourself quite as much. But it's a lot better than ping pong because at least you're getting some exercise, you're moving a little bit. Think about a, half sized court compared to tennis and using hard paddles and whiffle balls. No one's going to get hurt. They're not going to be 120 mile an hour serves. Anybody can play pickleball. And it's extremely social because you're so close together on the court. And oh yes, pickleball apparently doesn't break the bank either. Not only is the equipment pretty cheap, but you can wear your normal tennis shoes. And courts aren't all that expensive to reserve either, at least relatively speaking. Best of all, pickleball is usually played between four people because there are typically too few courts and too many people waiting to play this increasingly wildly popular game. And it's all ages. And importantly, women love pickleball. Now, you want real world examples. I've heard from guys literally as far apart as Florida and the state of Washington playing pickleball and guys of all ages from late 20s to early 70s out there having fun playing pickleball a couple times a week and meeting all the women who are showing up, women of any age group in any city. You're going to find pickleball. You're going to find them. And here's the great part. They've got to be women who are at least somewhat committed to being in pretty good shape. So by all reports, a lot of very sexy women are out there playing pickleball now. Also, by all reports, there are so many people showing up to play pickleball and the world has just not caught up with the demand just yet for courts, that a lot of your time will be spent waiting to play your next game of pickleball with someone. This is like going to a bar or club and having all that time to socialize without having to buy women drinks and without having it to be a dark, smoky environment with some thumping disco music in the background. It's reasonably quiet and sane. It's in broad daylight, and the women are there to play pickleball just like you are and are open to being social with you guys. Pickleball is a bonanza. Look up where it's going on in your city and get you, some. And if you have any success stories, I want to hear even more because I've already heard a dozen or so and I'm sure there are more out there for you guys who go out there and seize the day and seize a pickleball racket and get to play some pickleball. Want to talk about this or anything else? Scott mountaintoppodcast.com. be good out there. As always,

00:05:00

Scot McKay: visit mountaintoppodcast.com for more.

00:05:03