Scot McKay 00:17

All right, all right. Welcome again, gentlemen to yet another episode of the world famous mountaintop podcast. My name is Scot McKay at Scot McKay on Twitter and clubhouse. Real Scot McKay on Instagram Scot McKay on YouTube. You can find us on the web at mountain top podcast calm and the Facebook group as always, is the mountain top summit with me today is a guy I've known for a while at Scott have been 1314 years now he's a great guy. He and I think alike on a lot of things yet his wavelength is always a little bit different than mine, which makes our conversations invariably wonderful and valuable. You guys know him as the kingpin over at ARS cammarata his name, according to himself, rhymes with carrion. But you can call him Zan Perry on sand. Welcome back to the show, my good friend.

Zan Perrion 01:11

Thank you for having me back again, Scott.

Scot McKay 01:13

Yeah, man, and nowadays, you're living in Bucharest, Romania. And I imagine as much of a gypsy spirit as you've been over the years, you've been there for quite a while with the lockdown over there in Romania. Right. You're champing at the bit, proverbially speaking to travel again. It's nice of a city as it is. But yeah, man, you're a traveler, by heart. So what's going on how you feeling?

Zan Perrion 01:36

It's been slapped out of me for sure. For the last year and a half. It was in January 2020. I went to Florence, Italy for a month to sit in the hotel room and work on my second book. And I haven't traveled since came back in February and haven't traveled since which is very strange.

Scot McKay 01:52

And that's a heck of a place to go lock oneself into a hotel room. I think if I was going to lock myself in a hotel room, it would be someplace really, really boring, not fun and vibrant. Well, that was what I was looking for. Because every year I take like a pilgrimage. The year before that I went to the Black Sea and rented a little Villa there. And yeah, I want someplace boring. So I essentially, but I picked it was winter. And I thought well, I don't want to go to England, I don't want to go north I thought of different places. And I just thought, you know, I'll go to Florence and sit in that and I didn't leave my hotel room for a month I was right dead center. And you know, but but there's nobody there. It's definitely off tourist season is a little cold. And I would go into for instance, OCC gallery, and I'm standing by but Shelley's The Birth of Venus by myself. And normally there's like 100 people in the room. And so, but I only went out a few times, I really just stayed in the hotel room, told the maid to you know, leave New towels every day and see. And I sat there day and night with the windows closed and he'd cranked up and

Zan Perrion 02:02

Scot McKay 02:52

I like to do that. Well. Yeah, the irony there is none of us have probably seen this phenomenon with our own eyes. Because it is about tourism. But it must be weird to live in a very heavily traveled tourist mode and have no tourists around and stand in front of something that's just iconic with nobody to watch it with you.

Zan Perrion 03:13

Yeah. And so here is who is me with this wonderful idea to go to Florence and and i was gonna go to an island like you've been in Greece or something, but I pick Florence and it's an hour and a half or two hour flight from from Romania. And anyway, I get there and I turn off the internet for the entire month. I would call my girl on Sundays only that was our arrangement. We missed each other terribly was fantastic. But I didn't go on the internet. I just read books and studied and wrote and then and I came back refreshed and inspired deconditioned fantastic. The next week the world lockdown. So So I imposed a lockdown on myself for a month and then after that we were locked down again.

Scot McKay 03:51

Yeah, Isn't that crazy? Yeah. Basically trained yourself to be in lockdown unwittingly. Exactly. Yeah. Minus the masks, of course.

Zan Perrion 04:00

Minus the masks and the propaganda.

Scot McKay 04:03

Once right. Now you just mentioned girlfriend last time I talked to you. You're married? That mister my wife. Yeah, it's just old habits. I heard we call each other boyfriend girlfriend. You must be

Zan Perrion 04:07

Scot McKay 04:12

Emily. Still my girlfriend? Yeah. Yeah. I said to somebody probably three or four months ago. I'd love to come to your event. But can I bring my cute little girlfriend with me? Perfect. And the guy said to me, girlfriend. I thought you were married. I so yeah, we've been married darn near 15 years, but she's still my cute little girlfriend. And I think it was actually a lady and I did it to charmer, you know? You and I both have to do and that of course brings us with a nice friendly segue to today's topic. disor which you indeed are the man to discuss this topic with for sure. Which is feminine gifts and all the wonderful things women do for us now obviously Zan we all know that it's nice to have sex with women. Lots of guys for whom that's the main purpose. is for women to be here is to basically be life support systems for their vaginas, so that we can have sex with them and that they can bring us pleasure. But you know what's really strange Dan is even in that context, men inherently recognize that women should be bringing us pleasure, yet, you've got all these guys, the manosphere, the MiG tau guys who I know don't like my message at all, they sort of need me not to exist because I'm happy with a great woman and we make each other's lives wonderful. And I have a high view of women. And yet like me, you also have a high view of women. Women have always been wonderful and pleasant to you because you know, raw humans around here. But we're not exactly wrong as men when we think of women as being designed for our pleasure, yet, where do you think these guys go all wrong thinking? Yeah, from a physical pleasure sense. Yeah, I'd love to have sex with as many of these chicks as I can. Yet in every other area of life, they're just going to ruin me. They're gonna take my money, pop out a baby with me who I'm going to support for 18 years never get to see slap rape charges against me when I thought this was consensual, all these ideas, some men imagine that women are here to ruin us, when in reality, they really are here for pleasure, at least by design unless they're broken. I'd love to hear your thoughts on how so many men you think got misguided, or I don't know, in their mind they're not misguided are they simply got guided into thinking that women are no darn good except for sex. Yet here You and I are in a conversation that's gonna make a lot of guys roll their eyes, about how wonderful women are and how they and how much more enrichment they can bring to our lives.

Z

Zan Perrion 06:51

Yeah, you know, I spent my life you know, studying women in my 20s being massively insecure, rejected by women then feeling lost and alone and lonely. And I know that feeling and you know, the world is not a nice place. There's a there are men who are not nice and there's women who are not nice, not there's not all sugar and spice women are not all, you know, a perfect creatures that we should aspire to and put on pedestals now we're all broken. And you know, it's strange. If someone asked me one time fairly recently said, you know that and all those years, right, it's my, you know, late 30s just really couldn't struggle to figure it out. And I had no help there's no dating coaches back then. There was nothing really on the internet. And, and I didn't know boxes of ad and so basically, I did my 10,000 hours of going out to bars and and putting myself in the proximity of women and asking girls out and getting quote unquote, flaked on. And after two dates, they would know, you know, they just drifted away from the whole thing. I've seen everything right.

And I was always lonely and, and alone and feeling really hurt and all these kinds of things. And then this guy asked me, did you ever get discouraged enough that you that you've considered giving up and it never once occurred to me? I said, No matter what if other guys have this figured out, I'm gonna figure it out too. So I never got, which I think were the men you're talking about nowadays. This real discouraged world view Veldt Schmitz, I never got that feeling that it's useless as broken marriages destroyed. Women have too much power. Women are mean women have had the law on their side and never and never really went down this discouraging thought process. I just said no, I can figure this out. Whatever, whatever the cost, I'm going to figure it out. Then I built the whole you know, philosophy wrote an entire book about

Yeah, the alabaster girl, right? Yeah. Yeah. Great book and very popular, especially with the guys who think along the same lines you do and in many ways, the same lines I do. You know, I'll tell you this. Scott. I have had a lot of guys messaged me from the these communities you're talking about is a red pill or something. blue pill. The red pill guys, right in red here. Yeah, MiG tau guys. Yeah.

Zan Perrion 08:49

Zan Perrion 09:01

And there's even you know, on even if you look on the Amazon reviews, you'll see guys will say Listen, I went down this red pill path. And then I discovered this book, and I realized, wait a minute, no, there's a this is more aligned with my spirit who I really am. And I was discouraged going down that path and thought it was the only way that I mean, that's a pretty strong message, obviously, dominant one.

Scot McKay 09:20

You know, what's fascinating to me, Zan. And maybe you can comment on this is you and I have lots of peers there. Lots of different guys. Even fellows have made a name for themselves over the years by doing good, solid work in the men's dating advice, space in the masculinity space, you know, dating relationships. But yet, even with the depth of expertise out there, you and I remain notable in this space for actually liking women, as if that's a rare, interesting feature of what we do and it just strikes me as odd. As a matter of fact, I have to joke with you a little bit about something. When your name comes up in conversation. I always joke with people that you're the only guy I know Who loves women more than I do? And in context with that, I joke that I sometimes love to go ride my bicycle or have dinner out or maybe go on a trip or go hiking or surfing or something. You it's all women all the time. Yeah, I mentioned the Malcolm Gladwell and idea of 10,000 hours, dude, you've got to have probably 100,000 hours. Yes, just women for you. You just are addicted to women. I've done nothing else is true. Now. I don't even mind. No other hobbies.

Scot McKay 10:31

I don't even mind sharing the joke with you. Because it's just so fascinating to me that you've just been all in with women forever. And, you know,

Zan Perrion 10:40

since I was a little boy looking up skirts, you know, I just, I love women's bodies. I like the way they're shaped. If I see, you know, an 80 year old woman comes through, I light up there's something you know what I'm thinking, thinking, man? Well, she like when she was 20. Not kidding. I'm thinking that What? What did she do in her life? What crazy things that she do? How How, how bad of a girl was she? You know, I'm curious about that.

Scot McKay 11:03

You know, it's interesting, you would bring that up, because I'll share this with guys sometimes, especially when they come here and I take them out in fields. That one of the earmarks of a guy who truly likes women is it has nothing to do with how physically attractive she is, and or how sexually available she might be to Him.

Zan Perrion 11:22

Correct? 100% and anybody in history, you know, Casanova really cared. And he really liked the he liked the idea of women. The idea of women made him light up and, and all the guys I know who and there's been very few who are super, super good with women on that level. They just, they just love women, they like everything about women, they're they're kind to women, doesn't matter if they're not their body type or you're not attracted to her. They're super super. They make her feel beautiful, and make her feel seen. Right without question.

Scot McKay 11:52

Yeah, I think that that's very intuitive. Not only do guys who like women do well, with women, they're the same guys who aren't afraid of women. And those probably are two interrelated features of their psyche. In other words, because I like women, I don't fear them. I don't think they're going to do something bad to me or be untoward. So therefore, since I like women, I, you know, love women as opposed to fearing them, you know, if you have the mindset that there really are only two emotions, love and fear. If you don't like these women, you're going to fear them. And then when you fear women, they follow your lead, and then they fear you and then they don't like you. And then it becomes this domino effect that leads to these guys being really bitter and saying all these women are horrible, etc, etc. Yet, if you start with actually liking women, the next thing you know, you're going to notice that, hey, you know, they're responding really well to me, because after all, I like them. I welcome them, I make them feel good about themselves. And then the women respond to that lead by liking you in return, therefore, your confidence is built and the snowball gets rolling in the correct direction. Right?

Zan Perrion 13:00

That's right. Like, you know, one of the one of the signature quotes that people have underlined and pulled out of my book and stuck on Instagram, etc, is this phrase, which I'm known for, which is a man who loves women is loved by women is no other way. Yeah, they take care of you, they give you their bodies, their energy, they adore you, they want you to succeed in life, they want to inspire they want to be amused to you. Because they feel that it's it's in return. So a man who loves women is loved by women and there's no other way you can you can get sex, a lot of girls, if you got a lot of money, you can be a bad boy, kind of a bad boy and maybe broken girls who had you know, problems in the past will respond to that it becomes a you know, a need based things on both on both sides, but right train the door. But devotion devotion from women, I have ex girlfriends who have complete devotion to me and they're married. And, and one woman from Poland that I used to see every time I go to Poland, she sent me a message the other day said, you know, Xander wanted to be with you to be one of the first to know that. I have a baby. And and she married to the guy and I and my wife and I went to Poland. Six, seven years ago, we had a 24 hour layover, we went to her house and she was there with her boyfriend who's now married to her. And we had a blast. And this is a girl I used to sleep with. And there's just a celebration in the air and I bring my girl and all of us together, you know, and she made some Polish food for us. It was a there's no such thing as your ex that spit out word when you have real devotion and you're not lying and your agendas clear. And and you care.

Scot McKay 14:36

Well, because there's more to it than sex, that kudos to her husband for being so gracious with you because obviously he gets it also. But there's so much to talk about there. There's a richness to this topic that I'm sure we're not going to cover in a mere 30 or 40 minutes, but we're gonna we're gonna take a shot at it anyway, just because it's so much fun. You know, you're talking about women who aren't available sexually. yet we're still going to be kind to them, we're still going to enjoy their presence. Because they're women. And we like women. So Heck yeah, I'll flirt with the 80 year old, perhaps great grandmother who's serving samples at the grocery store, right. And she is thrilled that she is getting masculine feminine flirtation attention from a guy, you know, these guys know I do play by play announcing for my kids BMX races. And there's little girls and little boys from four or five years up on you know, and I'm a dad, you know, we've had four kids close in and out of this house to them are still here. And two boys, two girls, and I know how to relate to kids. And I realized little boy, kids are different than little girl kids. And there's this little girl who races BMX, and she's five years old, she races in the five novice class. And I went over to her because she was doing something that could theoretically cause her to crash and perhaps hurt herself. And I want to make sure she didn't do that. When the gate drops in the BMX race, it's fed by hydraulics, you know, it actually drops faster than gravity for the faster riders. When they click the button for the gate to come back up, it is going to be lifted with hydraulics. And this little girl was getting in the habit of trying to roll down the gate after the gate rock when it was about to come back up. Now, if that happens at the wrong time, it'll flip over. Okay. So I was explaining all that to her. And she just looked at me and goes, thank you, Mr. McKay. I really like you. And I missed you when you weren't here last week. And she gives me a hug. And she's a five year old little girl is not my daughter. I just, I just melted. I was like, Oh, I missed you, too, sweetie. And I hugged her. And her mom was standing there watching it all happen and looks at me with these eyes of just pride and adoration towards me. Yeah, that's cool. And it has nothing to do with anything other than that. I think the good Lord that He created femininity on this earth. Guys who open the door for women, because they're hot and let it slam on the grandmother behind them are just completely missing the point, aren't they? Zan?

Zan Perrion 17:06

Yeah. You know, I had, I had a couple guys that came to my coaching in Romania a few years ago. And I remember this very specific, we had about four or five, no, but two, three guys. And there's these hot girls at a table, we were staying in this lounge area. And they're all having shots and drinking, they're hot. And the guys were looking at me and then looking at the girls and then sideling over to the table, if you know what I mean. Right? You can see that. And then but and over my shoulder, I noticed that these these two girls were standing by the wall by themselves. And they were not quote unquote attractive. In you know, in the conventional sense, they were. But they were there. And I thought, You know what? I invited these two girls, I instantly reached out to them say, hey, come meet my friends. Come, come, come, come, come stand with us Come have a drink with us. And they came and they were all they're all happy. And because you know, the way I look at it is this. Those girls before they came out, they went to each other's place. They tried on different outfits. They did each other's hair, they put it they said what about these earrings? What you know, what about this and show wear this? No, don't wear that lipstick wear this one. And they got themselves in their best presentation to come out to show themselves and be in the scene and maybe meet somebody? And how can you How can someone turn their shoulder to that saying I was not injured managers not that makes no sense to me. And not only that, and I want that table of hot girls to see this. That's important, you know, to see that there's that, you know, benevolent type of spirit. And it's not charity. It's not it's like saying, you know what, you girls are girls, too. And you dress up and you looking mighty fine. You can meet my friends here. And we had a great time with those girls. So there's something in me that says, you know, that there's something in me for that for the downtrodden. Because I was not included When I was a boy. I was lashing picked on the team. No girls wanted me, you know, and I was uninvited I know what it's like to be to be not seen. And I will not abide it. It will not it doesn't happen. If I have a you know, a bit of a house party or I'm at a house party. And there's a bunch of people sitting around and I see Scott is over there in the corner. No one's talking to him and he pulls out his phone I instantly stop what I'm doing whatever conversation whatever thing. I say Scott, I'm using as my example

Scot McKay 19:17

Scott, a very likely scenario By the way, did you meet these girls? Did you meet these girls? Did you meet my friend Scott? the Great's of the world that I've studied over the years in a house party or lounge or something, they throw the energy into the center and they want everybody to be included equally. Nobody is left out not even men.

Zan Perrion 19:20

Scot McKay 19:33

So that's the essence of being a cool guy is helping other people. Cool.

Zan Perrion 19:38

Yeah. And so you do that with those girls, those hot girls look over and notice that too. And there's no if you say what if those other girls that you're not attracted, you think you're trying to pick them up? That doesn't happen? They understand that you know because of the nature of the whole thing. This like the eight year old woman that you're flirting with, she doesn't think you're really trying to pick her up to take her home. There's no misleading information in there. Not at all. It's just it's benevolence. And it's being kindness, empathy. And it's realizing I was there too. I was that unattractive girl standing in the corner that no one will talk to. So I'm not, I won't, I won't have it in my presence. That's my craziness. Well, I mean, again, that comes down to do you love women? Or do you fear them. And if you're afraid women are out to hurt you and get you all the time, then you're also afraid that if you talk to an ugly woman, she's going to be chasing you down trying to get with you and misread the whole situation. Fear after another. That's correct. You know, as you were talking, I sent you, we're going to get around to that wonderful nugget of life truth that I hope every guy listening tucks away, as a major takeaway from this show, that when you are good to all women, the women you're particularly sexually attracted to will not only take notice, they'll be more intrigued by you and like you better because you like all women, they'll see the authenticity in who you are and what you're about. Because remember, every one of those women who sexually attractive is being quote unquote, hit on by guys who just want to get in their pants. It's a lot like frankly, being a rich guy and having a bunch of women want your money. So they're busy playing keep away. And this is perceived by a lot of men is them not liking sex, or being ornery or mean or somehow untoward towards them when really, it's a protection mechanism. So when use and show up, and you love all women, and it's genuine, this guard drops even in the most attractive women, and they're thinking to themselves perceiving probably being a better word, the correct word, that, hey, you know what, you're not trying to get them. You're a lover of women who is genuinely wanting to relate and connect with them. And those women trust you more? Well, they trust you earlier and more often, frankly. And you're more likely to gain the genuine attraction of exactly the kind of women you are in turn attracted to, when you take this simple step of simply liking them and expecting the best out of them first.

Scot McKay 20:13

Zan Perrion 22:09

Yeah, and imagine this, you know, there's no illusion, there's no women that looks at me and thinks, oh, he's a nice guy, nobody, even if they're not attracted to you, you think that guy's that guy's gonna bend me over, if I go in here, I have that fun, beautiful sense of abundance, that that real joy of the Divine sexual energy that I've been bought and created with. And so I really believe in that, and in my 20s, and 30s, I was trying to hide to try to be cool and try to, you know, you know, hide my sexuality. And now it's, it's 100% radiant off the and I'm not a pig, I have respect, I have empathy. But everyone can feel that there's something in me that I'm respectful, I adore women, I want women to be happy. The eight year old woman thinks man if I was 20. Again, I want her to think that and, and they know that there's, there's no there's no illusions about the I'm, I'm here to bend the world over. That's where I am. So I love that aspect of it. But I'm also want them to have the same, I want the same joy and in feel like they're caught up in something to as opposed to a convincing energy or trying to get them drunk or to manipulate in any way. So it's it for me, it's like I want any woman that comes, you know, as an experience to be a sexual experience for me, I want her to be there with joy, and because she wants it, and she wants to be there. So there's something in me that's strong that way that, you know, it's, I don't hide it anymore. And so I wanted to make that distinction, because a lot of guys will take a lot of the words that you say to like women or to love women. And they'll say, Well, I like women, but they don't like me back. And it's just because they're not portraying this, this visceral edge of adoring that they like women's asses, and they like women's faces, and they like the smell and the essence and the and the beauty of women.

Scot McKay 23:46

Yeah, there's this idea there that a lot of guys hold that sex is this trick. We hope to successfully play on women. Because they don't want it. They're not horny as yet the primal truth. I mean, this isn't even something that's open for discussion. The actual biological truth is women who are heterosexual are not only horny, because that's what drives sex and procreation. They're horny for Dec. I mean, you know, there are two types of people in this world, right? People who like to suck cock and people who don't. And women are the kind who do we are the kind typically as heterosexual men who don't. So we somehow have a misunderstanding of how sexuality really works. But these women aren't going to be sexually attracted to you if you mean them harm, or you're trying to trick them because the trickery doesn't feel good at all. Yeah,

Zan Perrion 24:42

you don't believe in that you as a sexual creature. Women like you are 100%. Right? And this is the secret that men go if they look at me go No, not my sister go Yeah, all of them. Your app uses everybody. They think about sex way more than men do. They imagine it with every man they meet, they have the what they call the hover test that they can hover the picture the guy hovering over them. He's got a chance maybe they are always in this mode of thinking this but they they disguise it very well, obviously. But if we knew what women are thinking and how dirty their minds really aren't, bless them, we would be much more relaxed and much more audacious in the way we represent ourselves. Yeah, David shade came on this show, of course, is one of the Oh, geez. Like Ilan.

Scot McKay 25:20

Oh, wow. I've

Zan Perrion 25:21

heard him in a long time.

Scot McKay 25:22

Yeah, he's doing great. And he loves to talk about the book, my secret garden by Nancy Friday, of course, which was written in the early 70s. And I'm in agreement with him. And I'm sure you are to that every man should read that. It will blow your mind. I mean, women are dirty, filthy.

Zan Perrion 25:39

Oh, man. They are filthy and constant.

Scot McKay 25:43

Yeah. And it's the social pressure to not be slutty. That keeps it from being more outward. And I mean, especially with the younger generations, and fourth wave feminism and Mama Gina embracing the slattern this that the other you're seeing a smattering of women who, who are much more open about their sexual desires and hungers and things. But it is so true. Everything you're saying is absolute reality. And as frustrating as it sounds, to a lot of these guys out here, and it must sound frustrating to a lot of guys, if they're, if they're experiencing a drought with women, or they just don't perceive that women are liking them that we really control this. I mean, we are men we lead, we help women feel safe and comfortable in our presence, even with the sexuality that we are in turn not afraid of either. I mean, what you were just talking about in a nutshell is and is embracing the fact that Yeah, you know what, I am a heterosexual man, I am horny. And that's okay. It doesn't make me a predator. It doesn't make me a jerk. It doesn't make me some sort of rapist, for having a penis, and liking female bodies and sex with women. It makes me normal, it makes me perfectly natural. And as long as I'm not trying to use a woman manipulator, or somehow lessen or darken her experience of sexuality, then chances are very good. She's gonna start feeling more comfortable with us being sexual towards her. I'll tell you that. And this goes right along with that hand in hand, perhaps literally. You know, a lot of times guys are so busy slut shaming women for being sexual that they talk themselves out of the bedroom. Of course, the worst quality of man or woman can have is to be judgmental. That is the opposite of generosity of spirit. It is to say, I don't like that guy, or I don't like that girl, or to judge. And that is one thing that gets my dander up is when I hear it. Like in my home. For instance, if somebody says, Well, I feel this judgment, energy coming out, I remove it. I can't have it. Don't be like this in my presence. Let's be generous of spirit. This assumed best and not assume the worst. And I mean, that's important. So yeah, it's part and parcel of the whole thing.

Zan Perrion 27:23

Scot McKay 27:56

Yeah, that's a habit that creeps up on us, we start feeling a little bit more bitter and negative. And sometimes we get to the point where we don't even realize how deeply we've gotten into that mindset. And it's a decision and reframing of habits and replacing them with new habits to decide, you know what, I'm going to give women a chance, I'm going to believe that they want the best for me, and that if I lead they'll follow in the way that is much more favorable to my happiness to my well being because I was more favorable to theirs first. And I guess on that note, Zan, it's time for us to talk about some of the things women do for us. Other than have sex with us that makes her life so much richer, man, I could rattle off several of them rapid fire, but I'm going to go ahead and since you're my guests give you first crack at that, well, I honestly believe that we cannot be fully formed, you know, in whatever archetype of man we are with a report a lover, that warrior spirit, King, whatever it is, we imagined ourselves to be or want to be, we cannot be fully fleshed out in that if we don't have the sense of the feminine spirit, and it sounds woowoo. But it's real, inspiring us. And the idea of men's movements that are going to go sit in the forest and paint their faces and beat drums and be mad again, and like rage against women. It's Doom because you're sitting in a circle with a bunch of dudes and, and the idea is that we cannot have an effective men's movement or an effective women's movement. Without the counter balancing energy of the polarity of men, women, I believe that the strongest thing we've lost is polarity. We, you know, women are more like men, men more like women. If we had this entire, you know, equality movement for last 100 years, whatever, we didn't get equality, we got sameness. And you know, and it's blended together. And yes, that's politically incorrect to say and I'll say it because I don't really care. It's the idea that you know, men and women should blend all this together become same, I think is a sin. I really do. And I think that, you know, the polarity is what we're missing. That's where that ended because now we have this antagonistic, it polarity has been replaced by aggression in the women in the men where they're there, they want to attack each other and they want to knock each other down and they want to be little each other and get the upper hand. And that's not polarity. That's not the greatness of the masculine spirit and the greatness of the female spirit on an equal plane, but different.

Zan Perrion 28:48

Scot McKay 30:21

Yeah, you know, while I would purport that there's a time and a place for men to be in community with each other and get in touch with their masculinity, every with their machismo,

Zan Perrion 30:30

and they come across the saying that, you know, that, I mean, I take my own pilgrimages into my own in with men, so yeah, no, you need your fishing trips, you need all that.

Scot McKay 30:39

Right? Well, I mean, fair enough. But I mean, a lot of guys have a very hard time relating to other guys mean, making male friends, and a lot of that has to do with a fear that making friends with a guy would mean you're gay. And, you know, what, what am I here with this guy for? And that goes back to this misguided view of what sexuality is, in general. I mean, obviously, you know, if you view women and interaction in general, as a means to get sex, that's where you're going to have this misguided feeling of weirdness when you're hanging out with a guy trying to make friends with them. You know, movies have been made about that, like I love you, man, etc, etc. But I do completely understand what you're saying. And so when you're saying, you know, the polarity is lost, the whole idea of the possibilities of men and women being in partnership together are lost, because we just miss out. Because we're missing the concept that this is supposed to be a partnership, women aren't there to destroy us. And we're not there to destroy them. Indeed, a lot of men have come to the conclusion that we must be some kind of wusses are somehow less than masculine or even anti masculine for liking women, and wanting women and appreciating women, when that's about the most warped concept I can think of I mean, if men and women truly are designed to be in partnership, and I mean, come on, even at the biological level, we clearly are, then that mindset needs work, doesn't it?

Z

Zan Perrion 32:10

Yeah, I think that going back to the this kind of concept that men are struggling with right now, I think that they believe that women have absconded with their responsibility, they have walked away from their responsibility of feminine, you know, of being feminine. And you know, because they're listening to, you know, the social media and the strident voices out there that are screeching on both sides of the aisles. And there's a silent majority, as you well know, that are just don't say anything. As they're not angry.

Scot McKay 32:39

They have no axe to grind.

Z

Zan Perrion 32:41

Yeah, and they don't want to get into that conversation. People ask me all the time, you know, what do you think, but I was asked on a radio show this woman's radio show sick of sexuality show, and she said, you know, ask my guests all this. What do you think pornography has done to our society? And I'm thinking, Well, I have no answer that, but you surely you must, blah, blah, blah. And I said, you know, what? i? Yes, I believe that pornography and the prevalence thereof, has impacted our notions of intimacy, connecting, you know, I get that I, you know, on a, on a broad macro level, I understand that it has an impact of society, but I'm not just talking about it, or studying it, or research you get because there's enough voices talking about it. So it doesn't interest me that the politics or that, or the gender wars, or the pornography and what these types of things, my message demand, and to women is let's walk around all that noise and all that strife that there's no answer to, let's walk around it and look for the cohesion and, and the remembrance and the abundance of men being men and women being women, and, and celebrating their ups. And so let's head toward the light, and not mire into this social commentary, which I never do. You'll never see anything I've ever posted in 15 years on Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, nothing that ever makes a comment on feminism on anything. Because there's enough voices and they don't need to hear my little Radley voice in the corner, and there's no winning. And so I mean, I've talked at conventions that are red pill or hitting red pill. And I just say my message and there's somebody in the audience that wants to hear a different message in the end the year and I don't know or care if they're if it's criticized or they poopoo what I'm saying that's okay, too. So but the idea is that this walk around this this morass of complicated discussion, and let's sit sit in with our brothers and our sisters and enjoy an experience. That's my thing. You know,

Scot McKay 34:33

I guess you could say, if your entire goal is to get more apps, you're gonna wind up with a morass. There you go. Funny. I like it. Yeah, you got to stick a fork in this one after I make a bad joke like that. Anyway,
